About Our Department

The Department of Computer Science provides students with knowledge and practical skills in computer science.

Students learn programming languages, data structures, databases, web development, artificial intelligence and data science.

Our Vision

To develop skilled and innovative computer professionals who can solve real-world problems using technology.

Our Mission

To provide quality education, practical learning and technical skills to students.

© 2026 Department of Computer Science